BALLOCH Navy man Colin Torney has been awarded the prestigious Rolls Royce and Associates Prize for achieving top marks on the recent Nuclear Propulsion Charge Course held at HMS Sultan, the Navy's Marine Engineering School, in Gosport Hampshire. The certificate, accompanied by a cheque for £100, was presented by RR&A Senior Manager, Mr Harry Wyse.

The Nuclear Propulsion Charge Course, a demanding 17-week long course, is a prerequisite for the ultimate qualification of Nuclear Chief of the Watch.

The certificate and generous sponsorship emphasise the challenge and rewards for those who work towards Charge status as NCOWs.

Colin holds the rank of CPO Marine Engineering Artificer.
