

November 21, 2007

Northrop Grumman Space Mission Systems Corp., Van Nuys, Calif., is being awarded an $8,335,091 cost-plus-incentive-fee, cost-plus-fixed-fee contract to provide for U.S. and U.K. TRIDENT Flight test data collection, planning, support, and refresh of the radars used to collect the data. Work will be performed in Los Angeles, Calif. (37 percent); Arlington, Va. (7 percent); Van Nuys, Calif. (2 percent); Huntington Beach, Calif. (4 percent); Pleasant Hill, Calif. (2 percent), and Huntsville, Ala. (1 percent), and work is expected to be completed September 2008. Contract funds in the amount of $4,363,048 will expire at the end of the current fiscal year. This contract was a sole source acquisition. Strategic Systems Programs, Arlington, Va., is the contracting activity (N00030-08-C-0005).