

...twenty years later

After 1945 the survivors of Hiroshima began suffering longer term effects. Leukaemia reached a level 30 times higher than normal. Children born of women pregnant when the bomb exploded showed birth defects, including mental retardation. Today, cancers of the lung, breast, bone and alimentary tract are still on the increase.